

“What I think, feel and do changes the world”

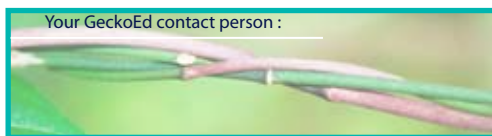

GeckoEd

Informing, Inspiring and Involving

Gecko is a voluntary organisation dedicated to offering guidance for individuals and groups learning about, delighting in, or interceding on behalf of the environment.

Many of GeckoEd's educational activities are unique to the organisation. They are devised with a scope, emphasis and delivery style that is specifically designed to have learners, truly being inspired, informed and involved.

Learning about the environment,
within the environment
for the environment

towards life long learning that changes the learner and the world in which we live.

We can visit you Classroom Visits

An experienced educator can visit your class, club, staff meeting or whole school assembly.

Relevant content and energetic delivery help students to appreciate foundational ecological concepts and innovative ideas for environmental responsibility.

With a visit from GeckoEd, perhaps using some of our art elements, teachers can set up work units on the environment or round off a term's study.

Images: Lui Weber & Linda Ray

You can visit us School Excursions

Schools are encouraged to contact GeckoEd to organise excursions.

In addition to the estuary, mangrove and the dunal environs close to Gecko House at Currumbin, visits to rain-forests, wetlands, grasslands and gum forest sites can be arranged on request.

Check the insert in this brochure or review the GeckoEd web pages to see what programs are presently being offered.

Images: Lui Weber & Linda Ray

We can provide Special Programs

Gecko, as a community environmental organisation will sometimes receive grants to run specific educational or outcomes based projects. As grants for such projects vary in type and duration, schools are encouraged to visit the website or phone to hear what special programs are on offer.

Such funding may extend to assisting schools to participate in various GeckoEd partnership programs.

Images: Johnathon & Lui Weber & Linda Ray

You can request Program Designs

Teachers pursuing a particular environmental issue or ecological focus for their students are encouraged to approach GeckoEd with their request.

GeckoEd can assist you or undertake the development of your needs.

GeckoEd's trained and experience educators are committed to devising meaningful learning encounters that service your requests with accuracy, innovation and freshness.

Images: Lui Weber & Linda Ray and Google Images

What we do

Carefully crafted learning activities blending ecological concepts, contact with the natural world and active participation to evoke a sense of ownership of learning, feelings & outcomes.

Why we do

Independent community groups like Gecko can devise and deliver innovative, provocative presentations that effectively link curricula outlines to real life experiences unconstrained by the daily demands of the classroom.

Ways we do

This brochure may contain an insert outlining some particular programs pertinent to your learning needs. Should the insert be absent, please contact GeckoEd for additional information and documentation.

